

MEANINGFUL MENTORSHIP

Successful mentorship programs help to diversify the workplace and build inclusion while retaining talent and supporting growth among employees. There is a growing desire for mentorship within the design professions, however, just as workplaces can greatly vary so does the format of successful mentorship programs. This event aims to provide design professionals with the tools and resources to build more robust and sustainable mentorship programs. Discussion group leaders, representing multiple design and engineering disciplines, will present a range of mentorship formats. We encourage participation from everyone of any demographic and career stage.
