Welcome to our project. Your safety during your upcoming tour is the highest priority for your tour guide. With this in mind, there may be areas of the project you will not be allowed to access. You will be required to stay with the designated tour guide during your visit to the jobsite. Your guide has selected a path that will not expose you to any dangerous areas or operations. Remember - Please stay with your tour guide at all times.

Various Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) is required while on this site. You will be required to always wear a hardhat and adequate foot protection. Proper shoes must be worn; no high heels, sandals, open toed shoes, etc. You may be supplied with hearing protection and/or eye protection depending on the project and tasks currently being conducted. You must wear safety appropriate clothing; loose clothing may get caught on extending objects thus it is not allowed on the site.

So that you are prepared in the event of an on-site emergency, your guide will explain project emergency procedures to you. If you do not understand the procedures, please ask before you start your tour.

Throughout your tour, you may notice various "Danger", "Warning", "Caution" or other like warning signs/systems around areas or equipment. The warning is placed there to protect you as well as project personnel. Heed the instruction of your tour guide.

Scuffling, horseplay and practical jokes are prohibited. This is an easy way for people to get hurt.

Alcohol and drugs are not allowed on any Hoffman project. If you appear to be "impaired", you will not be allowed to tour the project.
